getting up the shoulder of the mesa was no easy job but judging from the actions and appearance of wiry pony and rider it was a job that would be accomplished for part of the distance it is true the man thought it best to dismount drive the pony ahead of him and follow on foot at length however they reached the top of the mesa and after a breathing spell the man mounted and rode across the table land a short lope brought pony and rider to a point where the mesa sloped down again to meet a plain that stretched for miles to merge into some foothills a faint trail came from somewhere through the foothills wound over the plain and followed a slope that descended to a river below the rider crossed the stream led over a level up another slope to another plain and so away into the distance up and down the river the water ran deeply in a canyon the painted buttes that flanked it lending an appearance of constriction to its course but at the crossing it broadened formidably and swirled splashingly around numerous rocks that littered its course there were fifty thousand acres within view of the ranchhouse virgin grass land dotted with sage running over a wide level into little hills and so on to an upland whose rise was so gradual that it could be seen only from a distance best from the gallery of the ranchhouse the first tang of autumn was in the sage scented breeze that swept the county and the tawny valley basking in the warm sunlight that came down from a cloudless sky showed its rugged beauty to advantage kane lawler paused at the edge of the gallery and filled his lungs from the sage laden breeze and then wheeled to face his mother she smiled at him have you seen ruth hamlin lately kane lawler s lips opened then closed again tightly and by that token mrs lawler knew that something kane had been on the point of saying never would be said for she knew her son as no other person in the country knew him kane lawler was big from the broad shoulders that bulged the gray flannel shirt down the yellow corduroy trousers that encased his legs to the tops of the boots with their high heels and dull roweled spurs lawler looked what he was a man who asked no favors of his kind from the crest of three mile slope the man on the pony could see the town of dry bottom straggling across the gray floor of the flat its low squat buildings looking like so many old boxes blown there by an idle wind or unceremoniously dumped there by a careless fate and left regardless to carry out the scheme of desolation apparently the rider was in no hurry for as the pony topped the rise and the town burst suddenly into view the little animal pricked up its ears and quickened its pace only to feel the reins suddenly tighten and to hear the rider s voice gruffly discouraging haste therefore the pony pranced gingerly alert champing the bit impatiently picking its way over the lumpy hills of stone and cactus but holding closely to the trail the man lounged in the saddle his strong well knit body swaying gracefully his eyes shaded by the brim of his hat narrowed with slight mockery and interest as he gazed steadily at the town that lay before him i reckon that must be dry bottom he said finally mentally taking in its dimensions if that s so i ve only got twenty miles to go half way down the slope and still a mile and a half from the town the rider drew the pony to a halt he dropped the reins over the high pommel of the saddle drew out his two guns one after the other rolled the cylinders and returned the guns to their holsters he had heard something of dry bottom s reputation and in examining his pistols he was merely preparing himself for an emergency for a moment after he had replaced the weapons he sat quietly in the saddle then he shook out the reins spoke to the pony and the little animal set forward at a slow lope if the passengers on the west bound train that pulled up at the little red wooden station at dry bottom at the close of a june day in were interested in the young man bearing the two suit cases they gave no evidence of it true they noted his departure with casual glances they watched him as he stepped down upon the platform but immediately they forgot his athletic figure and his regular featured serious face as their thoughts returned to the heat the dust and the monotony of travel there was the usual bustle and activity which always follows the arrival of a train a mail bag was dumped out of the mail car another thrown in some express packages were unceremoniously deposited near the door of the station by the agent the conductor ran to the telegrapher s window to receive an order ran back signaling as he ran the engine bell clanged the drivers clanked the wheels ground the passengers sighed and the train departed on its way the young man who had alighted stood motionless for a moment listening to the clatter of the wheels over the rail joints watching the smoke from the engine stack befoul the clear blue of the sky then he smiled grimly threw a rapid glance toward a group of loungers standing at a corner of the station and walked over to where the station agent stood examining some newly arrived packages do you mind directing me to the courthouse said the young man the agent looked up turned and ran a measuring speculative eye over the new arrival he noted the eastern cut of the young man s clothing and beneath the dust of travel the clear healthy white skin of his face stranger here observed the agent with a slight humorous narrowing of the eyes yes no i don t mind resumed the agent answering the young man s question you won t have any trouble findin the courthouse there s only one street in this town an the courthouse is down to the other end of it you couldn t miss it if you tried he grinned with some amusement at the young man s back as the latter with a cordial thank you returned to his suit cases gripped them firmly by the handles and strode down the wooden platform toward the street ignoring the group of loungers at the corner of the station nother tenderfoot remarked one of the loungers as the young man passed out of hearing they re runnin this country plum to hell the young man strode slowly down the board sidewalk that paralleled the buildings on one side of the street mentally taking in the dimensions of the town it was not an inviting picture many buildings of various descriptions snuggled the wide vacant space which the station agent had termed a street most of the buildings were unpainted and crude composed of rough boards running perpendicularly with narrow battens over the joints there were several brick buildings two stories in height bearing the appearance of having been recently erected and these towered over the squat one story frames in seeming contemptuous dignity there were many private dwellings some stores but the young man s first impression was that there was an enormous number of saloons
